

Pam Schladensky obtained a Bachelor's of Science in Psychology, with Minors in Sociology and Mathematics from Wingate University. She went on to Appalachian State University to obtain a Master's Degree in Rehabilitation Psychology. She joined CEP Evaluations in the mid 1990s after working for the NC Division of Prisons. She has used her education to test in various school systems. She has also gained experience from raising three wonderful children. She has been a home educator for 8 years, integrating teaching strategies for special educational needs, such as Autism and Dyslexia.